

The New California Green Fund

The Bay Area Green Fund, established in 2006 by Community Bank of the Bay (CBB), focused on financing environmentally sustainable projects in the Bay Area. Its mission was to provide banking solutions aligned with ecological priorities, such as clean energy, waste reduction, green real estate, sustainable food systems, and environmental stewardship. What set the fund apart was its commitment to avoiding investments in fossil-fuel projects, emphasizing community-level green initiatives instead.

As this initiative transitions to the California Green Fund, the scope expands beyond the Bay Area to encompass the entire state. This rebranding reflects a broader vision of supporting sustainability efforts across California, building on the fund's legacy while reaching new communities and projects statewide.

We will have more details soon, however the California Green Fund is officially LIVE!
